He went through the undergraduate civil engineering program, the master's program, and Ph.D. programs at NMSU. In addition to devoting himself to the program and the students in the program, Dr. McCarthy was the principal investigator on grants from the National Science Foundation totaling $8.5 million through 2009. He was also instrumental in making the NMSU campus accessible to physically challenged persons and in the efforts to achieve ADA compliance for the campus. Dr. McCarthy unexpectedly passed away earlier in the year, while continuing to serve as Principal Investigator and Project Director for the program now named "Reaching the Pinnacle". In honor of Dr. McCarthy's many years of service to NMSU and his dedication to assisting and mentoring physically challenged students, the College of Engineering requests concurrence of the naming.

11. INFORMATIONAL ITEMS

- (a) Enrollment Report (Dr. Carmen Gonzales, Vice President for Student Success and Dean of the College of Extended Learning)

Dr. Gonzales reported a total campus enrollment of over five percent. Undergraduate students increased by 5.71 percent and graduate students increased by 4.18 percent. The NMSU headcount is 17,056. The Alamogordo campus increased by more than ten percent; the Carlsbad campus increased by more than 15 percent; the grants campus increased by more than 19 percent, and the Doña Ana campus had an increase of ten percent.

- (b) Legislative and Budgetary Update (Senior Vice President Jennifer Taylor and Assistant Vice President for Research and Senior Director of Governmental Relations Mr. Ricardo Rel)

Senior Director Rel summarized the status of the current budget and provided the Regents with a list of all of the bills impacting higher education at NMSU.

Senior Vice President Taylor gave an update on the status of the budget. Based upon the LFC recommendation, which is the most conservative assumption as of this time, NMSU is slated in total to lose $18 million/8.6 percent in recurring dollars, $13 million/8.3 percent from I&G, and $5 million/9.7 percent from RPSP. The I&G cut from FY10 pre-solvency under the LFC's recommendation, with the impact of the recommended 2% compensation reduction included, is $15.6 million/12.5 percent for the Las Cruces campus. Each of the other campuses would be reduced under this scenario, with Grants being the lowest at .4 percent up to Carlsbad at 4.4 percent. If compared to FY10 post-solvency, without the 2% compensation reduction, the Las Cruces campus would lose $7.9 million/6.6 percent in recurring I&G funding and all of the community colleges under that scenario would gain, because they all qualify for enrollment workload funding in FY 2011 and the Las Cruces campus did not.

Mr. Vargas provided information on the capital outlay bill and provided information on the House and Senate introduced bills. Mr. Rel and Mr. Vargas also provided a brief overview of some of the bills that had been introduced to date.
